CONGRATULATIONS FOR KING

Major Lang, Victim of Attempt peror of Shen-Si and Kan-Su. on Victor Emmanuel's Life, Makes Good Progress.

Rome. March 15.-Although positive evisence is lacking, a strong suspicion exists here that yesterday's attempt to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel was the outcome of plot arranged some time ago. The Italian Minister at Berne recently notified the government that he had been informed of a plot against the King, the Premier and the Foreign Minister, and gave the names of the anarchists concerned in the affair.

On January 20 the Italian Consul at Geners reported that an anarchist plot against King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Giolitti had been arranged there by local anarchists. who were aided by members of the Committee of Union and Progress at Constantinople. At the end of January another rereceived here gave the names of two Turks who were alleged to be implicated in the plot-Tasca Piocerea, aged forty, a Macedonian agitator, and Nicholas Tacito, aged thirty-eight.

In addition, the Italian Embassy in Berlin notified the government that a German engineer had informed the embassy that while in a beer hall he had overheard a conversation, partly in Italian and partly in French between three individuals, who said they would leave for Italy at the beginning of March and make an attempt to assassinate the King from a window. According to the engineer, the men said they would receive $20,000 if they were successful.

Says He's an Individualist.

Dalha was again interrogated by the police to-day, and repeated that he was an individualist anarchist and that he had no accomplices. He said:

A vision ordered me to kill the King. Several times I might have done so, but I waited, having decided to attempt his life only when he was surrounded by his body guard. I have no lovers, as love weakens a man, while I wish to be strong. I am not a drinker, as I do not like wine. My first shot at the King would have been all right, but the cartridge did not explode.

Callers at the Quirinal to-day to express their congratulations to the King have been very numerous. They included most of the members of the diplomatic corps. whom were Thomas O'Brien, United States Ambassador to Italy, and the staff of the American Embassy.

Telegrams from every part of Italy and also from nearly every country in the world poured into the palace to-day. They comprised dispatches from a large number of sovereigns, that from the Emperor of Austria being the first to arrive.

Vatican's Horror Expressed.

The whole press of Italy unites in praise of the conduct of the King and in condemnation of the would-be assassin. The "Osservatore Romano," the Vatican organ, says: "We desire to express our ne and to thank Providence that the assassin failed in his ourpose, thus sparing Italy a fresh period of mourning and humanity a fresh shame. Ernesto Nathan, the Mayor of Rome, accompanied by the aldermen, went to the Quirinal at noon to renew in the name of Rome their expressions of indignation at he attempt on the King's life. They informed the King that they had withdrawn he rights of Roman citizenship from the assailant of his majesty. King Victor Emnanuel and Queen Helena in reply said hey were overwhelmed by the exhibition of affection on the part of their subjects. The revolver used by Daiba is a most 'ormidable weapon. It is a foot in length and contains six chambers of large calibre. Its probable purchasing value would be $30, and this roused the suspicions of the police that Daiba had received it from some one else for the purpose of committing the outrage. When intefrogated at the police station as to how he became possessed of the weepon Dalba answered that he had

It is to be sold for the executors of several estates, and for com of the Plaza, next Monday and Tucsday evenings. A few of the 107 pictures are from American brushes. Ridgway Knight, he late Frederic Bridgman, the late William Keith and others are represented. One of the most charming things in the show is the small "Sundown" of the late Robert C. Minor, a tenderly felt bit of landscape, quietly beautiful in color. The modern Dutch school is conspicuous among the foreign pictures, there being resented by no fewer than four canvases, all of them distinguished by his gay elegance, and one of them, a little picture called "The Widow," uncommonly interesting, for him, as a mere piece of painting Another canvas to be noticed for good qualities lying beneath an appearance of brittle triviality is the "Musical Critics" of Luis Jimenez.
